Majeed Ibrahim Hamo and Saeed Khalil, believed to be at imminent risk of execution.

Mr. Hamo and Mr. Khalil were sentenced to death in May 2007 by a criminal court in Dohuk for the murder of two people in March 2006. In January 2008, the Cassation Court in Dohuk upheld the sentences and sent them to be ratified by the President of the Kurdistan Regional Government, Mas'ud Barzani. After his arrest in 2006, Majeed Ibrahim Hamo is reported to have been subjected to torture by security (Asayish) personnel, as a result of which he sustained a broken shoulder and was burnt all over his body with cigarettes. The allegations of torture were raised by his lawyer during the trial. The doctor who carried out a medical examination on him two to three months after his arrest wrote a letter to the court stating that the results of the examination were inconclusive.
